Credit Courses

The following courses meet the requirement for middle school promotion. These courses can help transferring students align with the Cicero curriculum, returning students to complete missed credit, or students who need support to build their academic skills. They are not intended to substitute for upcoming curricular coursework.

Great Hearts affirms the fundamental importance of a single track liberal arts education. As such, with rare exception, all students are expected to complete the same courses in a given year of study. This being so, it is important for students to come to a given year of study at Cicero Preparatory Academy with sufficient foundational knowledge for a year of study. Without the necessary prior experience, students will likely struggle to succeed academically at Cicero. We strongly encourage incoming students to prepare for study at Cicero in the summer prior to the start of their first academic year at Cicero. Please use the table below to determine how your student should prepare to begin at Cicero.

Grade	Recommended Summer Study
6th	Prep Study Skills &/or Prep Math Skills
7th and 8th	Summer Academy “Latin Fundamentals” or “Math Fundamentals”
10th	Summer Academy “Algebra I”

CLEP TESTING OPPORTUNITY

Attention High School Students:

The Cicero Prep College Counseling Department wants to help you earn college credit by taking a College Level Examination Program (CLEP) exam this summer. These exams serve the same purpose as Advanced Placement (AP) tests: allowing high school students to earn college-level credits for work they have done in their high school classes.

CLEP Tests are multiple choice exams affiliated with the College Board and are designed by college professors to give college credit to our students without the need to enroll in a regular course to receive credit. CLEP tests save time, money, and award college credit for what you have already learned in high school.

CLEP offers the following exams:

American Government	French Language
Analyzing & Interpreting Literature	History of the United States
Biology	Humanities
Calculus	Human Growth and Development
College Algebra	Humanities
Chemistry	Introduction to Psychology
College Mathematics	Introduction to Sociology
College Composition	Natural Sciences
English Literature	Spanish Language
	Precalculus

While thousands of colleges across the nation accept CLEP credit, you will want to make sure the college you are applying to accepts the exams you take. If you are unsure whether your school accepts the credit, please go to the CLEP website or contact your colleges' admissions offices.

Testing Location: There are many different testing centers which proctor these exams, however our college counseling department highly recommends you test at Arizona State University, as it is one of the main testing sites for these exams.

Follow these steps to earn college credit during your time here at Cicero:

1. Choose the exam you would like to take.
2. Meet with Ms. Edmonston as a part of college counseling.
3. Work with Ms. Edmonston to create your CLEP account & register for exams.
4. Select a testing center for the exams
5. Schedule and place the order!

Once you receive the score report from the testing center, you can work with Ms. Edmonston to send your score to your colleges of choice. If you are interested or have any further questions, please contact Ms. Edmonston in the College Counseling department.
